ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

City Attorney J. A. Bro. A. of Burlington, P. Warner of Manchester Center, while gathering apples October 5, fell from the tree and suffered injuries from which he died the next day. The body was taken to Londonderry, his former home, for burial.

The Rev. Edward Sargent, tendered his resignation as pastor of the Congregational church at Tunbridge last Sunday. He has made a host of friends during his stay here, who will regret very much to have him leave.

Winton has reported to the board of aldermen of that city upon a bill presented by Dr. F. E. Clark, health officer. The bill has caused considerable discussion and has been vetoed by the mayor. It involves a number of legal points and upon those Attorney Brown rendered an opinion.

Word has been received in Rutland that D. V. Glin of that city, who was severely injured in a railroad wreck eleven weeks ago in Connecticut, and who has since been in the Backus hospital at Norwich, Conn., is worse. He is now suffering much pain and is apparently losing ground.

An Addison correspondent to the Verge Enterprise is responsible for the following: William Laddy placed in the spring about one bushel of potatoes on the ground and covered them with hay to the depth of two feet and has this fall removed the covering and is the possessor of twelve bushels of very fine large potatoes grown without planting, hoeing or digging.

The annual report of Supervising Architect Taylor of the treasury department at Washington contains figures about government buildings in Vermont authorized, in process of erection, and completed within the fiscal year ending June 30 last. They are as follows: Burlington, appropriation, $180,000; expenditures and liabilities, $192,513; available balance, $12,513. Newport, appropriation, $125,000; expenditures and liabilities, $119,956; available balance, $5,043. The deficiency in the case of the Burlington building is authorized.

W. W. Tucker's farm buildings in Wardsfield were destroyed by fire Saturday forenoon. It was discovered at about 8 o'clock but nothing could be done to check the flames. The entire contents of the barn were destroyed including seventeen hogs and other animals. The household furniture, upon which there was no insurance, was mostly saved. The buildings were situated about three-fourths of a mile north of this village on the place known as the Hazelton farm. Origin of fire not known, but it is thought to have been caused by children playing with matches in the barn. The insurance was about $1,800, in the Vermont Mutual, and estimated loss about $4,000.

SIRENS AND SONS.

The postmaster at Putnam, Conn., is furnished Letters.

President Roosevelt has presented to the Oyster Bay free library the executive chair which he used as governor of New York.

Captain Salvatore Pizzuti, the millionaire philanthropist of New Orleans, has given $250,000 to establish an Italian hospital in his home city.

The Duke of Argyll, who married Queen Victoria's daughter Louise, is fifty-nine years old. He spends most of his time at Windsor castle, of which he is governor.

The Marquis of Anglesey is said to be about to enter a monastery of a strict order as novice. He feels keenly the degradation of the sale of his personal belongings.

Representative John Lind of Minnesota, who has twice been governor of that state and nominated for justice of the supreme court, is said to bear a marked resemblance to Lincoln.

Major Henry Seton, a noted army officer and former Indian fighter, has just died in Baltimore. He was a grandson of Mother Seton, the founder of the Sisters of Charity in the United States.

Horace Johnson of Haddam, Conn., offers to bet $1,000 that he can beat the official forecasts sent out from Washington in predicting the weather, and he proposes the month of December next for a test.

Manager William Cotter of the Missouri Pacific railway has three brothers who are also railway superintendents. Four brothers railway superintendents is probably without a parallel in any family in the United States.

Nathan Meyer Rothschild, first Baron Rothschild in the peerage of Great Britain and head of the English branch of the celebrated family of bankers, has incurred the displeasure of the present ministry by transferring his political allegiance to the Liberal party.

PEN, CHISEL AND BRUSH.

James W. A. MacDonald, New York's aged sculptor, has been an artist more than sixty years.

Edgar Jepson has the reputation of being the most barbarously honest critic among contemporary English writers.

Algernon Charles Swinburne is engaged upon a drama the central personage of which is that sinister type of the renaissance, Caesar Borgia.

Mr. Andrew Lang attributes his literary versatility to his experience as editor of the college magazine when he was at St. Andrews. He frequently had to write the whole of the contents himself.

George Frederick Watts, the great English artist, who died recently in London, rarely worked from a living subject, but modeled fragmentary studies in wax and clay for particular parts of the figures of his pictures.

Burnt Orange the Rage.

Burnt orange is the newest shade for color luncheon, its popularity in frocks and millinery giving it the vogue, says the New York Press. Chrysanthemums of that hue or as near thereto as can be obtained are in great demand. Bright yellow butterflies and California poppies are used on the plate cards. Striking designs in burnt orange-cream paper are employed for further adornment of the table as well as for luncheon boxes and similar novelties. Even the candelabra shades are in the fashionable tone, and to complete the color scheme only white china, edged with gilt, is used.

Fire Company of Millionaires.

A number of the millionaires who live in one of the Philadelphia suburbs have formed a fire department of their own and are to build an engine house and fully equip it with all the necessary up to date apparatus at their own expense, says the New York Tribune. They will employ a large fire company and so protect their own summer homes. Among the members of the organization are John Wanamaker, P. A. B. Widener and C. A. Barney.

Help For Japanese Injured.

The girls in Japanese high schools devote an hour or two after school is over every day to making bandages and other things that may be needed on the battlefields.
